

- Individualized end-of-life care
- Comfort care medication to address symptoms
- Access to medical equipment to provide higher levels of comfort
- Hospice aides with training in attentive personal care
- Social worker available for counseling and emotional support for patients and family members
- Chaplain available for spiritual guidance and encouragement
- Bereavement care for family members